NEW YORK GIANTS TAKE WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

MEN CONNECTED WITH CAR THEFT ARE ARRESTED

Lester Wheaton and Lester Anderson Held at Ottawa, Kas., Confess Theft of Paige Auto

AUTOMOBILE ABANDONED AT GLASGOW, MISSOURI

La Crosse Men also Held for Robbery of Store at New Lenox, Illinois

FOLLOWING intensive investigation and search for more than a week for parties implicated in the theft of the new Paige automobile from the garage of J. W. Mashak Tuesday evening, October 4, Chief of Police John B. Webber Thursday morning received a message from the chief of special agents of the Santa Fe railroad at Ottawa, Kansas, to the effect that Lester Wheaton and Lester Anderson, La Crosse, were arrested and are being held pending instructions from local officials.

Confessed Names

The message stated that the two young men had given their names and confessed to the theft of the new Paige automobile. John B. Webber, local police chief, received a communication from Jesse Pryor, Glasgow, Mo., Wednesday afternoon stating that the automobile was abandoned at that city and inquiring as to whether a reward would be offered. From the description given, the car left at Glasgow was identified as that which was stolen from the local garage a week ago.

Following the coincidence of their disappearance at the time the Paige automobile was stolen here, police officials immediately suspected them as connected with the theft.

Also Robbed Store

A new angle to the crime which has been attached to the La Crosse men was learned in a message from a special agent at Topeka, Kansas, to the chief of police here Thursday morning which declared that Anderson and Wheaton were also held for the robbery of a store at New Lenox, Ill. The communication did not state the nature of the robbery or what was taken.

While the automobile stolen by the two young men was recovered at Glasgow, police officials here were not in a position to state whether it had been sold or merely abandoned when the men decided to travel by rail. In the opinion of the police the car was left some time Tuesday at Glasgow. Traveling by rail Wednesday, the two young men succeeded in making a distance of half way across the state of Kansas.

Wheaton Writes Letter

Keeping in continual touch with a friend of Wheaton, Chief of Police Webber learned through a letter written by Wheaton since his departure that the two men were headed for Florida. The letter was mailed from Chicago, it was learned today, and stated that they intended to reach their destination in Florida by this coming Saturday.

In answer to the messages received here, Chief of Police Webber wired instructions that the men be held pending arrival of La Crosse officials.

COUNCIL DECISION ON SILESIA SENT TO ALLIED POWERS

Text of League Council Recommendations Withheld for the Present

FEAR TROUBLE IN GERMANY IF RECOMMENDATIONS ARE ADVERSE

Crisis Faces Cabinet if German Towns Go to Poland

PARIS.—By The Associated Press. —The recommendations of the council of the league of nations for a settlement of the Upper Silesian question were received by Premier Briand Thursday. They will be communicated during the day to the allied governments, and, as a matter of courtesy to the United States probably through the American embassy here.

The terms of the recommendations will not be made public until an exchange of views as to further procedure. All the alleged details thus far published are declared to be pure conjectures. It is known, however, that the league proposal implies the necessity of dispositions to prevent an economic upheaval in the industrial region of Upper Silesia. Hence, it is deduced with strong reason that the proposal is a compromise between the French and British views and divides the industrial triangle of Silesia between Germany and Poland.

German Cabinet May Resign

BERLIN.—Resignation of the German cabinet was believed today to be impending, if press reports of the decision of the council of the league of nations relative to the apportionment of Upper Silesia are confirmed by the official text of the decision received here Thursday. There is little effort on the part of the government officials to conceal the fact that the cabinet would face a crisis if German towns should be separated from the country by the action of the league council and there are indications that apprehension over possible disorders has been felt in government circles.

Mark At New Low Level

NEW YORK.—German exchange Thursday dropped to the lowest quotation in its history—70 1-2c for 100 marks.

The demoralization, which extended to other foreign exchanges, was attributed to more acute political conditions in Germany growing out of the Upper Silesian situation.

AUTOS, MOTORCYCLE IN MORMON COULEE ROAD SMASH-UPS

Rural Mail Carrier Runs into Henry Schelbe's Car; Latter's Grandfather Hurt

WESTBY MOTORIST RUNS DOWN MOTORCYCLIST: SEVERELY HURT

Arrest Pair from Westby, Held to Await Outcome of Wounds

TWO automobile accidents have occurred on the Mormon Coulee road within the past few days that resulted in three automobiles and a motorcycle being damaged, and two men injured. One collision occurred Sunday night and the other Wednesday night.

Paul Mickschal of Mormon Coulee road, was riding his motorcycle along the road, about two blocks from his home Wednesday night when he was run down by an auto driven by Elmer Sinnes of Westby. Sinnes and Oscar Melpgar of Westby were arrested by Sheriff Miller. They may be arraigned Thursday afternoon in county court.

Cyclist Severely Injured

Mickschal was severely injured about the legs and body and his motorcycle damaged. He is being treated at his home by Dr. H. E. Wolfe. Sinnes and his companion were locked up in the city jail and held to await a report from Dr. Wolfe.

Alvin Cary, rural mail carrier of Viroqua, was arraigned before County Judge Brindley Wednesday afternoon on a charge of reckless driving, preferred by Henry A. Schelbe, Eighteenth and Madison streets. The case was adjourned to October 19.

Schelbe was driving into town on the Mormon Coulee road last Sunday evening. He was accompanied by F. H. Schelbe and his grandfather, Joseph Petreck. The car was stopped just beyond the city limits to change a tire. While they were working on the car, Cary drove along and collided with the Schelbe car.

Run Down While Changing Tires

Schelbe claims he stopped the car on the right side of the road and as it was just about dusk, used the spotlight to see to change the tire. He charges that Cary drove recklessly along the road and smashed into his car and that his grandfather while trying to get out of the way of the oncoming auto, was struck and injured about the legs.

Cary says he could not see any tail light on the Schelbe car and did not notice it until almost on top of it and that he ran into the Schelbe car in trying to avoid striking Mr. Petreck. Mr. Schelbe declares all the lights on his car were burning and that Cary's car struck his automobile, bounced back, swerved around to the left and then struck Mr. Petreck.

VICTORY RESIDENT KILLED BY FREIGHT TRAIN ON THURSDAY

Body of Andrew Hindenberger Found in Mangled Condition on Burlington Tracks

RESIDENTS of Victory, Wis., on Thursday were aroused over what was termed an accidental death when the body of Andrew Hindenberger, clerk for many years at the Tullock store, was found in a mangled condition on the tracks of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad shortly after 3 o'clock Thursday morning.

Hindenberger's body was found by employes of the Burlington road who were switching a freight train on to a side track in the yards at Victory at the time of the fatility. Train workmen declared that Hindenberger had evidently made an effort to mount the moving train. He was caught between the rear freight car and the caboose and his body was severed at the waistline when he fell between the cars.

Mr. Tullock said that Hindenberger had been in his employ for a number of years. Mr. Tullock declared that he could give no explanation for Hindenberger's action of arising at that hour of the day and for his presence in the railroad yards.

Asked if Hindenberger had been in apparent good health and sound mind on the previous day, Mr. Tullock stated that he had not noticed anything unusual about his actions. Mr. Tullock declared that the death was accidental.

SENATOR KNOX DIES SUDDENLY AT WASHINGTON

Stricken With Paralysis, Pennsylvania Man Dies Without Regaining Consciousness

HAD RETURNED TUESDAY FROM TRIP TO THE BRITISH ISLES

Served in Three Cabinets and Was Active Figure in the Senate

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, former secretary of state, died at his home here Wednesday night after a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Knox was on his way to the dining room at 6:15 when he suffered the stroke. He died within fifteen minutes without regaining consciousness.

PHILANDER C. KNOX

Senator and Mrs. Knox had returned only Tuesday from England, where they had spent the senator's vacation during the congressional holiday, motoring across the islands. His health apparently had benefited by the trip, and there was nothing to indicate he was on the verge of paralysis.

Mrs. Knox and the senator's secretary, W. F. Martin, were near when he was stricken and immediately summoned aid, but it was futile.

Washington Mourns

Official Washington mourns the death of Senator Knox. From all quarters came expressions of regret at the passing of a notable figure in domestic and world affairs.

Funeral arrangements provide for services here and at the late senator's home at Valley Forge, Pa. Services will be held here at 11 o'clock Friday at St. John's Episcopal church, with President Harding, cabinet members, senators and representatives, members of the diplomatic corps and others prominent in political, professional and social life in attendance.

Members of the senate foreign relations committee, on which Senator Knox had a leading place, are to be honorary pallbearers. The active pallbearers will be personal friends.

Burial at Valley Forge

After Friday's services the body will be taken to Valley Forge, to rest Friday night in the book-room of the senator's country home there. Services will be held in Valley Forge Memorial chapel Saturday at 2:30 p. m. The body will be interred in the chapel where President Harding spoke last summer during a week-end visit at the Knox home.

As a mark of respect, capitol flags were at half-mast to remain for thirty days, the official mourning period.

Served in Three Cabinets

Philander C. Knox was attorney general in the cabinets of President McKinley and Roosevelt, secretary of state in the cabinet of President Taft, and in the interim between those two offices and afterward was United States senator.

Senator Knox was an active figure in the fight in the senate in 1919 and 1920 against the ratification of the peace treaty of Versailles. Even when the treaty was being drawn up he delivered speeches in the senate and out of it in which he demanded that the league of nations covenant should be separated from the other part of the treaty.

He introduced a resolution to that effect which was adopted by the senate, and also presented a resolution against the appointment of American representatives on the reparations commission. He also drafted one of the various resolutions submitted to

NEHF HURLS FINAL WIN FOR GIANTS

Veteran Southpaw Allows Yankee Sluggers But Four Safeties; Error Loses for Yankees in First

BABE RUTH BATS FOR PIPP IN FINAL ROUND

McGraw Players Win Sensational Contest from Huginites 1 to 0

POLO GROUNDS, New York City. — The Giants took the world's baseball championship of 1921 Thursday afternoon by a 1 to 0 victory over the Yankees, in the eighth game of the annual series.

The Yankees made a fight for the game, upon which their fading chance for the winner's end of the big purse depended, but Nehf was pitching airtight ball and even Babe Ruth, dragged from the hospital to pinch hit in the ninth, proved unable to grab more than a mild grounder off his delivery. Hoyt held the Giants almost as tight for eight innings, but the single run spared by McGraw's men in the first inning was sufficient.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—Waite Hoyt stood in the breach of the Yankees' last defense Thursday afternoon. The youthful pitcher—the unspiked gun of the Yank staff—must hold off the attack of the Giants in the eighth contest of the world's series or nightfall will find the Giants the champions of the world. The Giants want one and the American leaguers need two games to clinch the season's honors.

"I will give the Giants all I have," said Hoyt as he came from the clubhouse, "and all I ask is that the Yankees give me a few runs."

The Giants believed that the momentum of the last two wins will carry them through to final victory before night.

"I probably will use Nehf," said McGraw, "but I may switch to Sallee or Shea."

The Giants are now in position to hold Barnes and Douglas in reserve for Friday's contest if the Yanks turn the tables on the National champions Thursday afternoon.

The weather was clear and the wind came out of the Northwest with a cutting edge that caused the early arrivals to shiver and shake. Noon time found only a scattering of spectators in the stands.

The smallest crowd of the series was on hand when the teams took batting and fielding practice. The Yankees batted against two right-handers, Piercy and Rogers, though it was anticipated that Nehf would face them, Ryan and Causey pitched to the Giants.

WORLD'S GREATEST LINER READY FOR SERVICE IN SPRING

Special Arrangements Necessary for Dock Facilities for the Majestic

PIERS IN NEW YORK HARBOR WILL BE TIGHT FIT FOR SHIP

Port is Most Difficult in World for Big Ocean Liners

NEW YORK.—Announcement that the world's largest ship, the Majestic will be ready for service between New York and Southampton next spring directs attention to the facilities for docking the great ship at her pier on her arrival at New York and the methods to be employed in doing so.

When the largest of the present ocean liners came out, just before the war, it was necessary to extend the piers at New York where they are docked, to protect their long hulls from traffic passing up and down the Hudson river. The extended piers will be a very tight fit indeed for the Majestic, while the task of getting her into her berth will present as big a job as the docking experts employed by the steamship companies at New York have yet encountered.

New York is perhaps the hardest port in the world in which to dock a great ocean liner, from the fact that it is the only one where the docks are at right angles to a river in which strong tides flow regularly.

A ship's captain is usually pictured as experiencing his greatest worries when his vessel is at sea buffeted by wind and storm. As a matter of fact on modern liners storms are small concern compared to his anxiety when he enters a port and finds his ship hampered by lack of sea room—of space to navigate.

In harbor he is confined to a channel, oftimes one in which he could not turn around. His speed is limited to bare steerage way. He must avoid striking passing craft or getting too far to one side from the deepened channel.

Opposite his dock, which in New York appears like openings between the teeth of a huge comb, he must come to a stop and swing the bulk beneath him crosswise to the flowing tide, hold it there, and nose his way into one of the openings.

Not daring to make use of the ship's own tremendous power by reason of lack of room, from a dozen to as high as 20 tugs are used in swinging into their docks such big vessels as the Olympic, the Mauretania, or the big 912-foot, 56,000-ton Majestic.

Indicating what damage might result if one of the big liners should bump into a pier or a passing craft, a marine engineer recently estimated that when moving at the rate of five miles an hour, about as fast as a man would walk, a blow equal to that of 14,400 runabout automobiles acting simultaneously would be inflicted.

Those who have seen the results of a clash of a single car can visualize the collective result.

The technically inclined are informed by the engineer that the measure of actual energy required to stop the ship at a five-mile speed in one second is 158,867,360 foot pounds, or a force equal to 288,521 horsepower acting through one second.

As soon as the ship is within heaving-line distance of the pier, hawsers, or big ropes measuring 12 inches in circumference and tested to a strain of 131,000 pounds, are made fast. Attached to the ship's winches a slow careful strain is put upon them. The strain is carefully watched for if the tensile strength be exceeded they would snap like a thread. If the tide pressure is too great oftimes the ship will swing up broadside to a pier head with aid of tug power, winch power pulling on lines and an occasional turn of the ship's screw, the long hull will be swung around and eased into the berth by inches.

Once within the slip the vessel is eased along the dock with the aid of spring lines, or hawsers running from forward and aft playing over string clutches or butts on the pier amidship the vessel. When one of the 900-footers is docked her bow is so close to the pier head that it can almost be touched. Her stern is protected from passing river craft by the bulkheads built out into the river.

"All fast, sir," the mates forward and aft and the officers amidships report.

The bell in the engine room jingles to advise the force below that the anxious moment is ended.

A sharp quick blast of the whistle which seems to echo the captain's or pilot's involuntary sigh of relief, the gangway is run up, and another voyage is ended.

Annual Rainfall

There has been recalculated from recent data the amount of rain annually falling upon the earth's surface. It is found that it is equivalent to a layer of water of the uniform depth for the whole globe of about 35 1-2 inches. The amount falling on the land is equivalent to a uniform depth of 29 1-4 inches; considering only the land which is drained by rivers flowing into the sea it is calculated that only 30 per cent is returned to the ocean, and that the rest is removed by evaporation.

One Or the Other

A famous golfer was making a round of the course with his caddie, who was apt to stammer in moments of excitement.

Arrived at one particularly difficult hole, the golfer remarked:

"I did this hole in two the other day."

"What!" cried the caddie. "Well, all I can say is that you are a l-l-l—"

"Hold on—hold on!" said the golfer in surprise.

"You're a l-l-Plucky man sir!" concluded the stammering caddie.

Couldn't Oblige

"That's a lucky pedestrian, anyhow."

"What did he do?"

"Dared the man who run over him to try it again."

"Did the motorist accept the challenge?"

"No; he said it nearly broke his heart to pass up a chance like that, but he was on his way to meet a train."

SELF DEFENSE MAY BE ASHLEY'S PLEA WHEN TRIAL COMES

Former La Crosse Bartender Has His Hearing Postponed for Week in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE.—John M. Ashley, proprietor of the Imperial Inn, Milwaukee and former La Crosse bartender, alleged confessed slayer of his affinity, Helen Larson, and her father Ole Larson of Oshkosh may plead self-defense and demand a jury trial when brought into Municipal court to answer for the double slaying that took place in his saloon early Sunday morning.

The saloon man was taken to District court Wednesday morning by Detectives Charles Muellner and Arthur Wolfe, after warrants charging first degree murder had been issued late on Tuesday by District Attorney W. C. Zabel. At the request of Attorney Frank Fawcett the case was continued one week.

The fact that the defense asked the continuance indicates that Ashley may demand a preliminary hearing in the lower court before permitting the case to go to the Municipal court. It was also taken as an indication that Ashley may attempt to have the charges reduced to second degree murder on the plea that Miss Larson was accidentally shot in the brawl and that the murder of her father was not premeditated.

Ashley came into court with the detectives and appeared cool and calm. He said nothing when arraigned before Judge George Page and only nodded his head when Attorney Fawcett asked for the continuance.

Judge Page ordered Ashley held in the custody of the sheriff without bail. Immediately after Ashley was taken to the jail District Attorney Zabel made preparations to speed the trial, and unless Ashley demands a trial by jury, the case may be taken into Municipal court as soon as the District court disposes of the preliminary examination.

In the alleged confession, signed in the office of the district attorney late on Tuesday Ashley is said to have charged that Larson and his daughter quarreled over a debt of $50 which the woman owed her father. Ashley declared that he took the gun from the rear of the bar to make them stop quarreling and said that a scuffle followed in which Miss Larson was shot.

In the struggle with Larson, Ashley is said to have admitted, the old man was struck over the head with the butt end of the gun. The blow knocked him to the floor unconscious. Then, Ashley said, he reloaded the gun and fired a shot into the man's brain, blowing off the top of his head.

While Ashley was in District court the Larson family was preparing for the double funeral of the victims Wednesday afternoon at Oshkosh.

Effects of Sun Spots

Magnetic storms manifest themselves by their effect on electrical apparatus and are visible as the aurora polaris. Because such storms frequently coincide with sun spots, it is believed that the atmosphere of the earth is in some way ionized by the sun. The sun spots are believed to shoot huge charges into space as a shotgun discharges shot. When the earth gets into the path of such a bombardment we have auroral displays and other magnetic disturbances.—Youth's Companion.

STATE TO PURCHASE FORMER BIRGE HOME FOR UNIVERSITY USE

MADISON, Wis.—The former home of President E. A. Birge of the University of Wisconsin was condemned and its sale to the state ordered by Judge E. Ray Stevens in circuit court here Wednesday afternoon. The attorney general had held that President Birge could not legally sell the property to the state as a member of the board of regents, requiring that it be condemned.

Condemnation proceedings on other property were carried out by the judge so that the university can carry on its building projects.

Indians Have Curious Numeration

The Indians of Guiana have a curious system of numeration. They count by the hand and its four fingers. Thus, when they reach five, instead of saying so, they call it a "hand." Six is therefore a "hand and first finger;" seven, a "hand and second finger." Ten is "two hands." But 20, instead of being "four hands," is a "man." Forty is "two men," and thus they go on by twenties. Forty-six is expressed as "two men, a hand and first finger."

To free your skin from blemishes —the right way

ASK a skin specialist why it is that your skin is continually breaking out with disfiguring little blemishes. He will almost certainly tell you that this condition comes from an outside infection.

Authorities on the skin now say that skin blemishes are generally caused by bacteria and parasites which are carried into the pores from outside, through dust and soot in the air. By the following simple treatment, you can gradually but thoroughly free your skin from blemishes:

EACH night just before retiring, wash your face with Woodbury's Facial Soap and warm water, finishing with a dash of cold water, and dry carefully.

Now dip the tips of your fingers in warm water and rub them on the cake of Woodbury's until they are covered with a heavy, creamlike lather.

Cover each blemish with a thick coat of this and leave it on for ten minutes.

Rinse your face thoroughly, first with clear hot water, then with cold.

Supplement this treatment with the regular use of Woodbury's Facial Soap in your daily toilet, to keep the new skin which is constantly forming free from blemishes.

Get a cake of Woodbury's today, at any drug store or toilet goods counter. A 25-cent cake will last for a month or six weeks of this treatment and for general cleansing use. The Andrew Jergens Co., Cincinnati, New York and Perth, Ontario.

IN DARKNESS

HE that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now.—John 2: 9.

Are We Not Ready?

ACCEPTING the limitations that Mr. Harding accepts, there can be no quarrel with his conclusion that complete disarmament is out of the question. Indeed, there may never be any such thing as absolute disarmament, even in a millenial world so far as international amity is concerned, because of the necessity of preserving domestic order. But the general air of admitting in advance the practical defeat of even substantial disarmament which clings to the president's letter is something that we doubt if the common masses of men are ready to accept, regardless of the indubitable practical difficulties which the president sees so clearly. As one apprehends the temper of the peoples, not only in the United States but in all the other democratic powers, they see plainly enough the obstacles in the way of disarmament, but they see even more plainly the blessings and benefits of disarmament. They are not disposed to be patient with reasonable explanations of impossibilities as a basis of refusal to undertake the great things.

Perhaps they would prefer a magnificent failure to a tepid, fractional success. If the fruition of the disarmament conference is to be a battleship scaled off the program here, or a regiment there, if it is to be a matter of minutiae instead of a bold confrontation of essential problems which cause wars and armament for wars, they will not be satisfied.

To throw aside the decorous protective screens with which diplomacy masks selfish national interests, to look at the real reasons why nations do not agree and threaten each other with weapons, would very likely result in present failure of disarmament even in part. Possibly it might even provoke a tendency to bigger armament in the immediate future. But it would hasten the day of real understanding and international plain dealing; let out a festering accumulation of suspicion and distrust which is doing world affairs no good, and as nothing else could it would jar and jolt the masses which are ultimately responsible for national policies—and must ultimately pay the shot when they clash in war—into a realization of the task before them, and of the necessity for so shaping education and so conducting themselves in international relations as to make peace and disarmament eventually practicable.

If such a revelation could have the effect of shaking the public opinion of each country out of its snug belief in the essential rightness of its own policies and the unaccountable willful wrongness of other powers' policies, it would do much. The United States, we like to believe, has a purer idea of world affairs than other nations, but in many respects its purity is chiefly relative. There are practical advantages to us in some of the lofty proposals we put forward, and practical disadvantages to other nations. We admire the loftiness, but perhaps not without a self-conscious private squint at the practical advantages. It would do us no harm to take a look at the practical disadvantages to other nations of our policies, as well as the practical disadvantages to us of theirs. If we are ever to approach permanent peace and disarmament, the peoples have got to take their governments in hand and impress upon them the fact that democratic fair-play must be an article of export as well as for home consumption.

That is no doubt about what President Harding had in mind when he suggested that "human nature would require revolutionary reorganization to make universal disarmament possible." But one feels inclined to question if the necessary reorganization of human nature is so "revolutionary"—strange choice of phrase for a conservative statesman, was it not?—as apparently the president thinks. Perhaps this reorganization of public opinion is already well under way. Statesmen, one fears, do not fully realize how much the world war did to speed up the evolution of humanity. The war itself ended in a peace that is not yet peace, but in their war-weariness, their disgust with the peace that is no peace, the lesson of the futility of armed conflict to settle things right was thoroughly driven home to the peoples. They know now that even the victor doesn't win. They are passionately eager to try some other way. There need be no fear that they will not follow a leader who has the vision and the courage to see the problem whole, and can offer another way that leads through the valleys of peace toward the goals of national policies. If President Harding would attempt the adventure that he concludes to be an impossibility he might very well be surprised at the irresistibility of the forces which would rise up to sweep the apparent obstacles from his path.

Columbus Day

OCTOBER 12 was the 429th anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. All over the world it was celebrated as Columbus Day.

What Columbus sought was a short-cut route to India, by way of the westward ocean. What he discovered was more than a continent, it was a turning-point in civilization and government. When the fearless Italian navigator landed on the Island of Guanahani, West Indies, in the early morning of October 12, 1492, he opened the door of the land that made government by the people possible.

Gold lured the early explorers of America. But it was refugees from European political oppression that built the foundations of the mighty civilization that has risen on the American continent. Individually, and as a nation, we owe a tremendous debt to Christopher Columbus. And let us not forget the queen who pawned her jewels to finance his venture into the uncharted Atlantic ocean.

The June Rise

By FREDERICK HART

The little river that divided the Montgomery property from the Trenholm estate was a peaceful enough stream to all appearances; it wound lazily through the flat land of the valley, apparently taking always the longest, laziest course to get where it was going and not very particular as to when it got there. But the stream, innocently enough, to all appearances could make trouble when it chose. Once it did choose, during a late spring following a hard winter. On this occasion, swollen by the melted snows from the surrounding hills, it rose in its might and carved out a new channel for itself, making a straight cut where formerly it had made a wide bend.

There was no loss of life entailed in this whim of the river's; but it caused much trouble for the two families who lived on opposite sides of it. The title deeds to the land gave the boundaries as the river—no more, no less; and the new channel added twenty acres of land to the Montgomery estate and subtracted an equal number from the Trenholm holding—good farming land, too, enriched by the deposit from the stream.

The Trenholms went to law about it; the Montgomerys defended their newly acquired estate with vigor; and, as is the way of lawsuits, the case dragged on and on, arriving at no particular conclusion except to cause much bad blood where there was but little before and to make enemies out of the former friends.

Margaret Trenholm, blond, pretty and just turned twenty, came in for her share of the family feud. Her father, hard and stern ever, instilled or tried to instill into her mind his animosity for his neighbors; and it is likely that he would have succeeded had not fate taken a hand and decreed that, one day when Margaret was riding her favorite horse near the boundaries of her estate she should meet young Davis Montgomery, just home from the college where he was studying law. The two strangers greeted each other as strangers do who are obviously bound by the fraternity of horsemen and passed on their ways; but fate was indefatigable.

Three more meetings cemented their friendship before either found out who the other was. When the names were disclosed it was too late. Those two young people had progressed past the point where inherited differences of opinion have any weight. If they had not fallen in love at first sight they had at least accomplished that desirable thing at third or fourth sight, and that amounts to much the same thing. They did not dare to broach the matters to their respective families, but they met occasionally, and each meeting cemented the bonds of affection more firmly.

Thus it came about that one showery day in early June Davis Montgomery received a note with his morning mail which he read in private and which gave him apparently a great deal of satisfaction. After breakfast he announced to his father that he was going to take a turn down by the river to look at the banks. The floods of spring were still on, there was a report of high water from up the valley and he wanted to assure himself that all was well in the lower fields. His father seemed a bit surprised at his son's determination to get a wetting, but made no objection.

Down to the river bank rode young Davis Montgomery, and in a moment there came to the opposite bank a vision in a riding habit—a vision not less lovely to his eyes because she was soaked with the rain. Neither of the young people, bred as they were to the outdoors, minded a wetting, when it was a question of seeing each other. Margaret waved gayly to him and he returned the signal. Then he glanced at the river.

It was very different from the usual placid stream. Bank high it rolled, a sullen brown flood, with here and there a piece of driftwood. The June rise was on indeed, and the river had risen in its might.

"Davis!" Margaret called to him, "Good morning, dear!"

Davis Montgomery forgot about the June rise and concentrated his thoughts on the fact that across that river was waiting the girl he loved. "Good morning, darling!" he called in return. Margaret, the better to speak to him, urged her horse to the edge of the bank where it overhung the stream. "Be careful!" shouted Davis. "The bank's undercut there!"

But his warning came too late. The bank, dug under by the ceaseless worrying of the river, crumbled and gave way under the weight of the girl and horse. In an instant Margaret was struggling in the swift stream, clinging to the bridle of her frightened mount; but in another instant Davis had leaped his horse into the stream and the two of them were making the best time possible out to where the brown head of Margaret could be seen beside the black head of her horse.

The struggle was brief but violent. Davis's Dandy was used to the water and kept his head magnificently. After what seemed ages of battle, but which really took only a few moments, Davis and Dandy succeeded in dragging the almost unconscious girl up a fortunately shelving bank, safe on dry land. Fifty yards further downstream they could see Margaret's horse, which she had abandoned in the effort to save her own life, struggling ashore, frightened but safe.

"Oh! I'm so glad!" were Margaret's first words. "Poor Black Beauty! If he had drowned I couldn't ever have forgiven myself.

"Thank goodness he's safe!" breathed Davis. "And thank the Lord that you're all right," he added in an unguarded tone.

Margaret heard his voice, tense with anxiety, and saw the look in his eyes; and in another moment she was in his arms, laughing and crying at once, glad after the tension of her escape to be able to lean on some one whom she loved.

Then suddenly the thought of her stern father and Davis's equally stern parent obtruded.

"Oh, Davis, dearest, why can't our families be friends? If only that stupid lawsuit could be settled we—we could get married and everything would be all right; but my daddy won't give in, and yours won't either, so—so ——" Tears choked her.

But Davis seemed unconscious of her grief. "Look! Look! The river!" he shouted.

Margaret looked as directed. Before her eyes she saw the water gnawing at the thin bank that divided it from the old channel. The June rise had done its work. Even as the two watched the earth gave way, there was a great roar and a tumbling of foamy brown water, and the river, so long diverted, had found its original course again. The new channel lay muddy but empty before them, and the lawsuit that had so long divided the houses of Montgomery and Trenholm was settled out of court.

It was two very happy young people who went up to the Trenholm house an hour later.

"You see," said Margaret to Davis, "we have to tell them that the river has brought the families together again—and that we are going to tie the knot so tight that it can't ever come untied!"

WAR—OR NO WAR?

Below is a pen-sketch of a statesman who will attend the Disarmament Conference in Washington, D. C., November 11.

Aristide Briand

"Who is that fellow down there talking with those fishermen?" asked a visitor to a little village in Brittany. "His face seems familiar."

"Oh, that's just Premier Briand. He spends his vacations here. He likes the sea. Thinks out most of his problems when he is fishing," replied a native.

Aristide Briand is one of his people. He was born in Nantes, France, and educated at the college of St. Nazaire. At the age of twenty he became a socialist and began his public career. He published a socialist journal, beginning by not only doing all the writing, but by doing the printing himself, by hand. He liked literary work and has followed it more or less through his whole career.

Briand is known as the most dazzling orator in France. He is also famous for his wonderful memory.

This great French statesman is known to Americans particularly for his guidance of the military affairs of France during the war.

A story is told which shows Briand's well-known power of concentration. He was in the habit of having his luncheon brought in from a restaurant. Once the waiter returned in two hours for the dishes and found the food untouched.

"I declare," said Briand, "I thought I had eaten it."

David Lloyd George, England's "little man with a big man's courage," will be the subject of Friday's sketch.

SPRAINS AND BRUISES

Written especially for this newspaper by

J. D. Ferguson

Trainer, Northwestern University

The first thing to do when you are so injured that you believe you have been sprained is to make sure it is a sprain and not a broken or fractured bone. If you yourself are not capable of determining this, do not try to, but have some one who knows give his opinion. Take no chances.

For bruises and sprains, heat, liniment and massaging are good. Hot and cold applications, applied alternately at intervals of four or five minutes, often relieve the pain.

A good liniment which the druggist will prepare for you consists of wintergreen, witch hazel, and soap liniment, mixed together. It is a counter-irritant that generally relieves the pain of a sprain quite satisfactorily.

But take no chances with any sprain or bad bruise in the belief that home remedies will "fix it up." They may not.

ONE REEL YARNS

COLUMBUS TAKES A TUMBLE

The Green Valley Grammar School had worked for weeks arranging a special program for Columbus Day, October twelfth. Parents as well as the members of the school board were to be invited.

The day's biggest feature was to be a play, "The Landing of Columbus," which had been worked up by the eighth-grade boys. Columbus, in the person of Mike Simpkins, was to alight from his ship followed by his sailors. Indians were to come running down to the shore and, while the sailors knelt and the Indians looked on, Columbus was to claim the country for Spain.

When the big day came the assembly hall was crowded. Even the windows were full. The school was on its toes with excitement. Up until the time for the play everything had gone well.

Then there was a moment's pause. The burlap curtains were drawn back a little. The front of a ship was seen—Columbus' ship. Two of the boys had spent a week constructing it of laths and cardboard. On the deck stood Christopher Columbus, arms folded. The boat was to move out several feet to a rock conveniently placed for Columbus and his sailors to step to. Jimmy Regan and Fred Greene, behind the curtain, were pushing with all their might.

Slowly the boat slipped along. Then it stuck. "Harder, Fred!" hoarsely whispered Jimmy. "Let's give it a good shove. One—two—three!"

The ship bound forward with surprising suddenness and struck the rock. Columbus, of course, tumbled overboard with a thump. He got up quickly, his fists clenched. "You crazy clowns!" he muttered. "Can't you do nothin' right?"

"Aw, you needn't think you're so smart just because you're Columbus," came from behind the curtains. Then the Great Discoverer made a dive over the fallen boat. The teacher was about to mount the stage and stop the uproar when the curtain was yanked down, disclosing a mass of tumbling sailors and Indians.

Columbus and his men discovered something then, but it wasn't America.

"We had a contest to see which was the prettiest girl in the graduating class!"

"How did it turn out?"

"One girl got two votes."

Paternity

BY DR. WILLIAM E. BARTON

THE world has been and still is close to the rim of bankruptcy. America cannot expect to escape her share in the depression that follows the war. But we shall recover eventually. The essential elements of prosperity are inherent in American life.

We have one asset of incalculable value in the return of nearly all the men who volunteered or were drafted to fight in the world war. The manhood of our nation is essentially unimpaired.

This means that two millions of our girls have or will have husbands, girls whose hope of matrimony was in jeopardy. It means that the American stock in the next generation is to be propagated not by weaklings and cowards, but by the men who in 1918 were physically fit to fight.

The best type of immigration that comes into America is not that which walks down the gang-plank on its own feet, but that which the good angels bend down and drop into the cradles of the land.

More important to our civilization than the locomotive or the automobile is the baby carriage.

Homes are being established. The home market must continue to be our first reliance for prosperity.

Europe has suffered a loss in its man-power not only or chiefly in productive industry, but in potential fatherhood.

America still has a large contract of cradle-rocking, and the nation that rocks the cradle is the nation that rules the world.

Keep the home fires burning. There are happy brides for whom they may be kindled, and there are strong, husky young men to saw the wood.

America's potential paternity is the basis of her prosperity.

Around the Clock

"Yes, boys," continued the steeplejack, who was telling "true" and thrilling stories; "yes, I was working a clock tower one afternoon about 12 minutes to six, when I slipped, slid down the roof and caught on the long hand of the clock. There I dangled, while the town folks collected below. So I yells to 'em: 'Say, you folks, go home and eat your suppers. It'll be close to half an hour before I drop.' "—Houston Post.

Let's put our wooden ships in charge of men who rock boats.

As women lengthen their skirts all men retain is pleasant memories.

REPORT GOOD GAINS DURING PAST MONTH FOR BADGER CROPS

Corn Sets New Record for Wisconsin; Crop Ripens Without Danger of Frost

BIG IMPROVEMENT SHOWN IN POTATO YIELD OF THE STATE

With Ample Rainfall Growth Continues Throughout Month

MADISON, Wis.—Cultivated crops in Wisconsin made a substantial gain during September with an increase of 6,500,000 bushels in the prospective corn yield, 2,600,000 bushels in the potato yield, and 4,700,000 pounds in tobacco. Cabbage, however declined 10,000 tons from the August estimate and onions 65,000 bushels.

Corn established a new Wisconsin record, the estimated production on October 1 condition set at 80,085,000 bushels compared to 82,865,000 estimated on September 1, 86,044,000 produced in 1920 and a five year average of 82,865,000 bushels. Entire freedom from frost during September is said to have insured ripening of the crop to the northern limits of the state.

Ample rainfall and above seasonal temperatures during the past month are reported to have increased the size and weight of the ear. The condition of the crop on October 1 was 96 per cent of normal, compared to 93 per cent on September 1, 87 per cent in 1920 and a ten year average of 81 per cent. Average yield per acre of silage is estimated at 9 tons per acre compared to 7.8 in 1920.

Favored by temperatures, frequent rains and absence of frost, the potato crop showed a substantial increase of 2,580,000 bushels. Vines remained green until the last week and growth continued, especially in the central district, according to the report. The October 1 condition was 55 per cent of normal in comparison to 50 per cent in September, and a ten year average of 75 per cent. Production is estimated at 23,268,000 bushels, compared to 33,264,000 in 1920, and a five year average of 27,276,000 bushels.

Wisconsin tobacco is reported to have increased 4,700,000 pounds in September, due to the fact that the late planted crop began to grow following the rains of the closing days of August. The prospective yield is 61,428,000 pounds as compared to 56,763,000 forecast in September, 62,400,000 produced in 1920, and a five year average of 52,920,000.

The condition on October 1 was 92 per cent compared to 85 per cent in September, 91 per cent a year ago and a ten year average of 86 per cent. Early planted tobacco went into the sheds early and in excellent condition the report says. Harvest of the late planted was hindered by rains, and some pole rot developed in the rang gy weather of the last week in September.

According to the report, Wisconsin cabbage did not respond to the rains of September as much as was anticipated. Blackleg is also said to have caused some loss with the result that production is estimated at 61,000 tons, compared to 71,000 forecast on September 1 and a yield of 106,000 in 1920. The preliminary estimate of yield per acre is 5.1 tons compared to 10.3 produced in 1920, and a 9 year average of 8 tons.

Beets for sugar made a slight increase during the month. Condition is estimated at 82 per cent compared to 81 per cent in September, 84 per cent last year and a ten year average of 88 per cent. Production is estimated at 132,000 tons compared to 129,000 forecast a month ago, 236,000 produced in 1920 and a five year average of 150,000 tons.

The production of onions is estimated at 91,000 bushels, compared to 176,000 forecast last month, 352,000 produced in 1920 and a five year average of 284,000 bushels. Preliminary estimate of average yield per acre is 91 bushels compared to 400 bushels in 1920 and a nine year average of 217 bushels.

Orang Outang

The huge apes (anthropoid) known as orang outangs are incorrectly named, probably owing to the difficulty du Chaillu, their discoverer, experienced in pronouncing Malay. Orang means a man, and outang a debt, so that orang outang means a man in debt. But the Malay word outan means a man of the forest, in outan means forest, so that orang distinction to orang dusun, man of the village, civilized man.

Wood Lighter Than Balsa

The wood of a tree found in Panama, Cavanillesia platifolio, is even lighter than the celebrated balsa wood. The tree grows to an immense size. The branches and the leaves are at the very top and the trunk is like a huge column. The strength of the trunk is principally in the thick fibrous bark, while the wood is so fragile that it crushes when the tree falls.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH US, ANYWAY?

John L. Lewis, President, United Mine Workers of America, Calls for Practical Plans

BY JOHN L. LEWIS
(President United Mine Workers of America)

The industrial stagnation affecting the nation is both material and psychological. Our industries, farms, mercantile establishments and banking houses were geared to war production with its extraordinary requirements.

All records were surpassed in the production of agricultural products, coal, steel and all raw materials and finished articles. Abnormal and excessive profits in business became such a reality as to change our sense of value and proportion. We became a nation of iconoclasts and destroyed the idols of conservatism to which we had hitherto made obeisance.

With the cessation of the war the flow of war materials overseas necessarily stopped. With the destruction of foreign credit, impoverished Europe was unable to buy. A lessening of our industrial and agricultural activities was then most natural.

Notwithstanding these facts, theorists, economists and captains of industry began to cry "Production, production," until the inevitable collapse occurred.

A New Panacea

A new panacea for our ills was then discovered and the same wise men shouted from the house tops that labor was too prosperous and that wages must be reduced.

Behold then the result: widespread lowering of wages, with a consequent reduction in the worker's standard of living; inevitable curtailment of buying and the increased stagnation of industry.

As in the period following the war of the rebellion, the return of the country to its normal basis should have been spread over a number of years, but the haste of our mad counselors forced the submission to a major operation and the patient has collapsed under the knife. Further wage reductions will but intensify our industrial and commercial agony.

The cost of living is far from keeping pace with the reductions already forced. The nation needs time to adjust itself while business burrows from its ruins and commerce is gradually revived.

Common Sense

We desire fewer platitudes from our statesmen and the application of a greater degree of the rules of common sense. Our nation is solvent and our assets exceed our liabilities by prodigious values. Practical plans should be immediately devised to provide work for our vast army of unemployed.

This must be done if we are to avoid the disturbance of our social fabric in addition to the agonies we are enduring from our other ailments. It will take time to ascend the slopes but the mountain can be scaled.

At Liberty

"The cat has a right to yowl without being shot at," rules a Kansas City, Kan., police judge. This will, no doubt, be a great relief to the cats who had prepared themselves to dispense with the midnight concerts in case the august court rendered an adverse decision.—Kansas City Star.

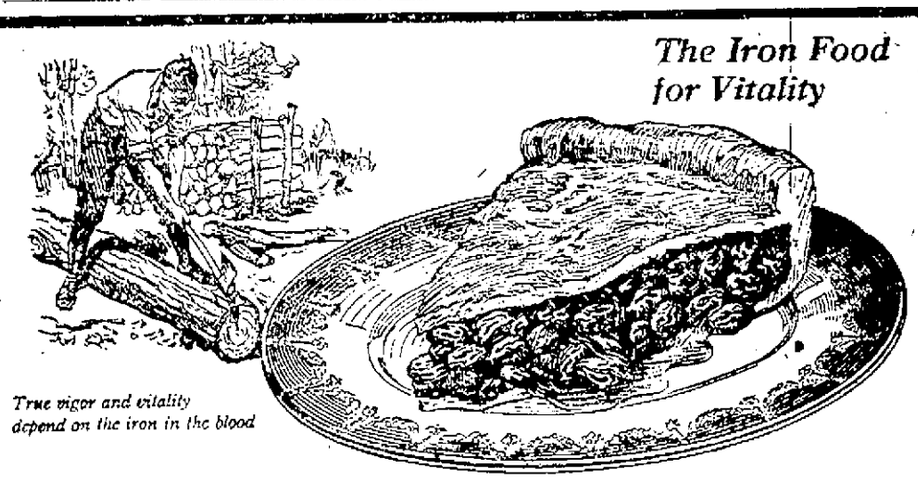
The Iron Food for Vitality



True vigor and vitality depend on the iron in the blood

Real Raisin Pie

—you don't know it, unless you've tasted this one. Try the recipe and see

WHEN made correctly—it is easy—Raisin Pie rules in its own right as the Pie Supreme — man's favorite food-dessert.

Do you use a recipe like this one—have you ever tasted raisin pie made exactly in this way?

If not, you're unfamiliar with real raisin pie — the flavory, energy-producing dessert that furnishes the blood with food-iron and helps to keep vitality up to par.

You need but a small bit of iron daily, yet that need is vital.

A million workers probably are refreshed daily by the digestible, quick-acting nourishment and vitalizing iron of raisin pie.

Whether you work indoors or out, you need this vitality.

Raisin Pie

Men are quickly refreshed at night by a dessert like this

2 cups Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins
2 cups water
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon corn starch
3 tablespoon sugar

Wash the raisins, put in saucepan with 1 cup cold water and bring slowly to a boil. Add sugar, salt and corn starch which has been mixed with 1 cup cold water. Boil 3 minutes; add lemon juice. Pour in pie tin which has been lined with crust, while hot cover; brush top with cold milk and bake in moderate oven until brown.

All measurements for this recipe are level.

SUN-MAID RAISINS

Use Sun-Maid Raisins, made from California's finest table grapes—American raisins, processed and packed immaculately in a great modern California plant.

Seeded (seeds removed); Seedless (grown without seeds); Clusters (on the stem). Also a fine, ever-ready dessert.

Raisins are cheaper by thirty per cent than formerly. See that you get plenty in your foods.

GREAT STRENGTH IN SEWN WOOD

Plywood is a comparatively recent developed material used in airplane construction consisting of layers of wood cemented together under pressure. A super plywood which has still greater strength consists of stitching these thin layers together after they have been duly cemented. The wood is stitched through in parallel rows about one and a quarter inches apart. This gives a rigidity and resilience not to be attained by any other method.

Weight for weight, it is the strongest material yet invented. It is made in sheets of any size or shape up to 8 ft. wide by 60 ft. long, and from 1/8 in. to 5-8 in. thick, thus doing away with waste in the conversion.

HORSE AND CHILD PLUNGE OFF BRIDGE; BOTH ESCAPE DEATH

ST. CHARLES, Minn.—Frightened at something just as it stepped upon a bridge over a creek, the horse upon which twelve-year-old Sanford McCready was riding to school reared over backwards and plunged off into the creek bed. Both horse and boy in some miraculous manner escaped injury but had the accident occurred on the other side of the bridge neither could have escaped death. The boy pluckily helped his steed to get out of the creek and then rode home. The accident is the second to occur in the same place with a short time, as a horse and buggy went off the same side of the creek, not long ago owing to the fact that there is no railing there on the bridge.

THE TURNING, CHURNING SUN

The sun does not turn all in one mass as the earth does, but different portions of its surface have different motions and speeds of movement. This was discovered through watching the progress of the sun spots across the disc. After making allowance for any motion which the spots have of their own, it was found that at the sun's equator the time of rotation is twenty-five days; one-third of the way towards either pole the time is twenty-seven days and half-way to either pole twenty-nine days, whilst the polar regions themselves appear to take thirty-five days.

But this just shows how very far from being solid it is. One bit moving at one speed. What a topsy-turvy world ours would be if it acted in that way!

Fortunately, the earth is too firmly set to act in any such way. The sun is not "set" yet, in the sense that a housewife would regard, say, her newly-made jam or jelly as "set." It is simply a big globe of white-hot vapor.

RESCUE MISSION IN REPORT TELLS HOW POOR ARE ASSISTED

Dewey Explains what Mission Has Accomplished and What Program is

The work of the La Crosse Rescue Mission for the past year is reviewed in the annual report of the institution by D. C. Dewey, superintendent. In speaking of the temporary relief provided for homeless persons, Mr. Dewey states that the mission has a dormitory that can care for 20 men. A lunch counter is operated in connection where the hungry are fed.

Plans are also being made to have men saw wood this winter for meals and lodgings, the wood to be sold at a nominal price. A reading and rest room is in operation at the mission all day. The report also asks that La Crosse people send their old clothing to the mission to keep the stock in the clothes room replenished, as the clothes are given away to needy men, women and children.

One hundred children are entertained by "Santa Claus" each year and preparations are being made now for the 1921 Christmas party. Other activities of the mission that are reviewed are the Sunday school, Kiddie Kamp for youngsters and their tired mothers conducted each summer at New Amsterdam, Gospel service each night. The new quarters of the Mission is at 226½ Main street, the old Mission home in Pearl street having been disposed of.

Hard Rubbing Makes Wrinkles

French Pack Tightens Skin, Removes Wrinkles

Beauty Specialist Endorses "French Pack". "New Method Beautifier".

"We do not give facial massages any more except when we are compelled to. In massaging you rub the face hard—this loosens the skin causing wrinkles. The skin is like a piece of live rubber and will stand only a certain amount of stretching. Rubbing makes lines which soon develop into deep wrinkles. In French Pack treatments no rubbing is done, it tightens the skin and removes wrinkles," says Mme. Fredricks, Beauty Specialist, San Francisco, Cal. Furthermore, in massaging oil remains in the pores collecting dust and dirt which bore deep into the pores of your skin forming blackheads and skin eruptions. No massaging; no soap and water will remove these impurities. McDonald's French Pack, "The New Method Beautifier" digs deep into the pores of your skin and removes all these impurities. Take only one treatment—immediately you will notice a tightening of the skin—lines around the eyes and mouth disappear—starts immediate circulation, builds firm tissue, makes the skin glow with new life, blackheads disappear as if by magic. Dries up pimples instantly, removes all scars and blemishes, clears the skin and takes away dead tissues. For freckles, tan or sunburn there's nothing so soothing and cooling as a French Pack Treatment, doesn't irritate in the least, a single treatment and lighter freckles entirely disappear, two or three treatments and all freckles disappear; rendering the texture of the skin finer, firmer and of a delicate velvety white. Leading Beauty Specialists everywhere endorse French Pack treatment charging $3.50 to $5.00 for a single treatment. Your druggist sells a 3-oz. $1.00 jar containing 10 treatments. A French Pack treatment now costs you only 10 cents, placing these truly wonderful Beauty treatments within the reach of everyone. Take only one treatment, if it doesn't produce a greater improvement in your complexion than any beauty preparation you have ever used we will refund your money. Sold by all druggists, Hoeschler's, Hebberd & Co., People's Drug Store, C. L. Lien, 727 Rose St., and 1288 Caledonia St.

Do You Look Forward To a Good Night's Rest?

Do you regularly anticipate a refreshing sleep? Or do you dread going to bed, only to stare, sleepless, at the walls? The difference between sleeping and staring is simply a matter of nerves.

When your nervous system is in a sound condition, you are certain to sleep well. But when your nerves are worn out and beyond your control, your rest is broken and your awakening leaves you languid and irritable.

Doctors know that much of the nerve disorders result from tea and coffee drinking. The drugs in these drinks over-stimulate, often causing the serious ills which result from disturbing the regular bodily functions. It is for your health's sake that many doctors now say you should quit tea and coffee. Drink Postum, the delicious meal-time beverage instead! In flavor it is much like coffee.

Postum is fundamentally a nerve strengthener because it lets you get sound, restful sleep. Postum is a skilfully-made cereal beverage, and the secret of its popularity is its protection to health and its delicious flavor.

Ask your grocer for Postum. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for 10 days and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

MINE DISTRICT OF KANSAS SUSPENDED HOWAT IS "FIRED"

Other District Officers also Removed from Office by President Lewis

INTERNATIONAL BOARD MEMBER IS MADE ACTING PRESIDENT

Declares Miners Must go Back to Work at Once

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The Kansas district of the United Mine Workers of America, District No. 14, has been suspended by John L. Lewis, international president. Alexander Howat and all other district officers are summarily removed and George L. Peck, until the district's suspension the international board member, has been appointed acting president of a provisional district.

All loyal miners of the district will recognize the provisional district officials, Lewis declares in a message announcing the suspension.

Mr. Peck, in a statement Thursday morning, declares that the miners must go back to work now. He announced that he would take charge of the district headquarters immediately.

The Kansas miners have been idle for two weeks, ever since Howat and August Dorchy, the district vice president went to jail at Columbus to serve a six months' sentence for violation of the Kansas industrial court law.

The cause of the action of Lewis, however, in suspending the district, is based on the refusal of Howat and his district board to put back at work miners called out on strike at the Dean and Bellaire mines last spring. The international organization holds that the strikes were in violation of agreements with the operators.

COUPE TANGLES WITH IRON RAIL; UPSETS; RIGHTED; ON ITS WAY

It was a coupe of the kind that made Detroit famous.

A man was driving it out Cass street Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock.

Everything seemed to be going smoothly with the coupe until it reached Sixth street. Then things happened.

Suddenly the coupe tangled with an iron railing on the boulevard and presto, it was lying on its side. Pedestrians ran to the car and helped the man climb out of the little buss.

Then the same "samaritans" helped boost the coupe back on its feet. The man thanked them for their assistance.

The man stepped on the starter. The coupe snorted and continued out Cass street and turning into Seventh street disappeared. It bore no license plates.

"Well, you can't keep a squirrel on the ground, can you, huh?" remarked one of the men who helped pick up the apparently wrecked coupe and watched it chug away, seemingly none the worse for its battle with the railing.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—The Athletic director of St. Louis university Thursday announced he had telegraphed the engineering school of Milwaukee that the football game scheduled for next Saturday would be cancelled unless the Wisconsin school dispensed with the services for that day of McMann, negro center.

Milwaukee Complies

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Officials of the Milwaukee school of Engineering football team Thursday said they will not play McMann, heavy negro center in their game with St. Louis university at St. Louis next Saturday.

NAVAL DIRIGIBLE FALLS INTO WATER IN HAMPTON ROADS

Three Men Aboard Airship on Leaving Langley Field Reported Saved

NEWPORT NEWS, Va.—A big dirigible from Langley field was wrecked in Hampton Roads about 10:30 Thursday and probably will be a total loss. Three men were aboard the airship when she left the flying station.

Spectators reported that two men jumped as the craft descended almost to the earth before leaving land. Another was seen aboard as the wind caught the bag and dashed it along the surface of the water.

Marine men at Old Point later reported that the lone man on the craft was taken off by Captain Watson and the crew of a harbor tug. The bag still partly filled with gas was whipped out toward sea by a strong wind.

"ALL A MISTAKE" SAYS FORGER WHEN BROUGHT TO TASK

CHICAGO, Ill.—Robert L. Gates, 47, alleged by the police to have passed bogus checks totalling $50,000, declared in police court that it was "all a mistake." He was arrested several days ago in Boston, where he was alleged to have passed several worthless checks. Gates told police he owned a quarter of a million acres of land in Wisconsin, inherited from his father, James L. (Stumpy) Gates. Part of the inheritance, he said, had been sold to H. A. Johnson of Billings, Mont. He received a $1,000 check from Johnson, he said, and after depositing it and writing checks on the deposit, discovered that the Johnson check was worthless. The police are checking other eastern cities to discover the extent of Gates' alleged operations.

ROBBERS FLEE TO SAFETY WHEN GROCER SHOUTS FOR POLICE

Shikralla Joseph, grocer at 1101 Liberty street, reported to the police that two men attempted to rob him of the day's cash receipts Wednesday evening about 8:30, but that when he yelled "police," the men fled from the building.

Joseph stated that he was counting his cash at the closing hour Wednesday night when two men opened the door and stuck a gun in his face. Joseph was declared to have shouted for the police and at the same time threw the sack of money under the counter. The men fled from the building without any loot, it was said.

Old-fashioned twin beds had twins in them.

MRS. VAUGHN SCORES HUSBAND'S HABIT OF BEING A. W. O. L.

Wants Hippo Put Under Peace Bonds Until He Shows Interest in His Family

KENOSHA, Wis. — Mrs. Jim Vaughn is not a "southpaw." She bats right-handed and she hits from the shoulder, and she had a lot to say when she was asked why she had appealed to the police of Chicago to find her husband.

Mrs. Vaughn was emphatic and rather vigorous and she summed up her arraignment of her ball-pitching husband by the declaration that just as soon as she could find a policeman who could get his hands on him she would demand that he be taken into court and put under peace bonds and held under these bonds until he was willing to show an interest in his family at home and a little less interest in some other people. Mrs. Vaughn did not give out the names of the other people. She did not mince words. She said that Jim might be a pitcher all right but that he had a way of being "A. W. O. L." meaning absent without leave from home which was contagious. She said that he had disappeared in New York and again in Chicago. "He left me and the boy over at Beloit with just a five dollar bill," was the opening fire of Mrs. Vaughn. "He said he was coming back on Sunday evening and I went to the train to meet him, but there was no Jim. I found him in Chicago Tuesday morning, where he had been staying with friends."

FIGHT DEVELOPS AS RESULT OF ARREST OF MADISON YOUTH

MADISON, Wis.—Trouble developed in the Italian section of Madison Wednesday night when prohibition enforcement officers arrested Dominico Justo, 16, for alleged violation of the liquor laws. Only after a struggle in which the boy was badly beaten, were they able to take him into custody.

The fracas drew a large crowd of Italians and negroes who are said to have threatened the officers, one negro drawing a knife. By brandishing their revolvers the enforcement officers got away from the crowd with their prisoner.

Raids by prohibition officers in the Italian district continued throughout the night, and resulted in the arrest of a large number of alleged offenders.

Power of the Eye

Dr. Charles Russ, an English physician, claims to have discovered by a delicate instrument, that there is force propelled from the eye, in the ray of vision. That is quite likely. Greek writers suggested this 2,500 years ago. We have long known the power of the "hypnotic eye" and the Italians believe in the "evil eye."

CONFERENCE WINDS UP ITS DISCUSSION OF UNEMPLOYMENT

MANUFACTURERS' COMMITTEE DISAGREES OVER SOLUTION

Two Reports are Presented to the Conference

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The national conference of unemployment after creating a standing committee with authority to reconvene the full conference at any time concluded its deliberations Thursday and adjourned sine die.

The work of the conference will be carried on by committees formed from the various industries to co-ordinate the operation of the actual measures adopted and to conduct regular surveys into the cyclical changes in business and employment conditions.

Divergent views as to needed economic readjustments for relief of unemployment were presented to the conference by its manufacturers' committee.

Majority members recommend several sweeping measures, including repeal of the Adamson eight-hour railroad law and a denunciation of any group seeking in its own interests "to resist economic adjustment."

Minority members through Samuel Gompers strongly emphasized that "there must be adopted no policy of wage reduction."

SENATO RKNOX DIES SUDDENLY AT WASHINGTON

the senate for adopting the treaty with reservations.

Wilson Vetoed His Peace

Subsequently Senator Knox was the author of a resolution adopted by the senate in May, 1920, declaring peace with Germany. This also was vetoed by President Wilson.

Senator Knox first came into national prominence when in 1901, President McKinley appointed him as attorney general. He retained that office under President Roosevelt until 1904 when he resigned to accept an appointment as United States Senator from Pennsylvania to succeed the late Senator Quay.

As attorney general he established a record for prosecutions of trusts and combinations and in actions against railroads to prevent rebates and discrimination in rates.

Other Notable Achievements

Notable among his achievements while in this office was his suit against the Northern Securities company, a corporation organized for the purpose of combining the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads. He brought the government action to dissolve the merger and after a long legal fight beginning in 1902 he won the case in the United States Circuit court.

Mr. Knox was born at Brownsville, Pa., on May 6, 1853, and was named after a noted Episcopal bishop Philander Chase. He was graduated from Mount Union college, Alliance, O., in 1872, admitted to the bar in 1875; and appointed by President Grant as assistant United States attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania.

UNPLEASANT ODORS

To give a room which has long been closed a pleasant odor, while airing it, put some ground coffee in a saucer with a small piece of camphor gum in the center. Light the gum and as it burns it will also consume a certain amount of the coffee and produce a pleasing odor.

DON'T SQUEEZE BLACKHEADS—DISSOLVE THEM

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation—then, too, after they have become hard you cannot get all of them out. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calonite powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition — anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should try this simple method.

CITY GETS PLACE ON BIG CIRCUIT OF BURLESQUE SHOWS

La Crosse Theater to Play Weekly Engagements With Shows of Big Time Wheel

That La Crosse has been tentatively given a place on the big "burlesque wheel" which includes all of the large cities of the country became known on Thursday, when it was announced that "The Follies of New York," a big-time burlesque, will play the La Crosse theater Sunday matinee and night. It will come to La Crosse from the Gaiety theater, Minneapolis, and will play the Gaiety at Milwaukee, the following week and the Haymarket at Chicago the week after.

If "The Follies" makes good, other similar productions will come on succeeding Sundays, as the various burlesques follow each other around the circuit. It is emphasized that these are not vulgar shows, but clean burlesque with well-known players, as pleasing to men as to women. They are said to rank with most of the musical comedies now on tour, although considerably different in type of course.

In the show coming Sunday the leading comedian is Fred Binder, favorably remembered here for his appearance with "The Girl from the Follies" last year.

The amazing two act vehicle is from the versatile pen of Sam Morris the various numbers have been produced by Virgil Bennet and the music has all been written by capable composers, especially for this production. The scenery is by the best scenic artists, and the wardrobe, which is unusually rich and unique in its creation, is by some of the leading costumers and milliners. The acting talent includes such well known burlesque people as Fred Binder, Sadie Banks, Kew Lederer, Al Turpie, Carol Carey, Mae Kelly, Wallace Jackson and Murry Welsh. The chorus girls are not only beautiful but are talented enough to keep up with the high standard set in all the other departments of the production.

Food Value of Potatoes

That potatoes differ widely in food value is shown by a report of the government's scientific committee. It is laid down that the most useful potato for food is the one which contains the largest amount of dry matter. Where two varieties are practically equal in this respect the nitrogen they contain enters into the estimation of their feeding quality.

Talks on Better Vision
No. 5

Efficient Vision Your Greatest Asset

THE strenuous demands of this age require the possession of every physical faculty in its most efficient state that we may be enabled to wage our contests of life at the greatest possible advantage. But nothing puts a man or woman at such a great disadvantage as a partial or total loss of visual powers.

There is, perhaps, no catastrophe which evokes more pity, or is looked upon with more dread than blindness, yet people give less attention to the care of their eyes than to the care of their teeth. The least ache in a tooth will make most any of us scurry to a dentist, but we will suffer headaches for months and allow our working efficiency to become lower and lower because of defective vision without attempting to seek relief from an Optometrist.

Few eyes are absolutely normal and the majority of people, regardless of age, actually need glasses. The need of glasses is many times multiplied because of the character of employment. The day of that old idea that age alone brings a need for spectacles or eyeglasses has long ago vanished, with other errors of like nature. Glasses are needed the moment the natural powers of the eye do not permit it to function properly for all distances.

So great an asset as good vision should have the greatest care. Some forms of mechanical defects of the eyes come on so gradually that they are not detected until they become serious—until these defects have actually reached a state that positive discomfort results. Regular eye examinations will avoid this. Make it a point to visit a reliable optometrist regularly.

BIGGER AUDIENCES AT LA CROSSE SEE "WAY DOWN EAST"

Picture Growns on Community as Those Who Have Seen Spread Word

Wednesday night saw the biggest crowd at "Way Down East" that has yet witnessed its presentation at the La Crosse Theater. With three days yet to go in the run of the Griffith masterpiece, it is predicted that steadily increasing business will be forthcoming, as those who have seen the picture spread its praises. Everyone who leaves the theater comments on the fact that it is unquestionably a great production, and this weight of favorable opinion is beginning to have its effect.

"Way Down East" has a human story to tell, and there is a straightforward and effective method employed, with a culmination of tremendous power, indeed nothing has ever been seen on stage or screen to equal the thrilling intensity of the scenes depicting the wanderings of Anna Moore through snowstorm and over ice and the rescue of the hapless young woman by David Bartlett as she lies on an ice floe on the brink of a falls. Realism is here brought to the ultimate and the scenes are presented with sincerity by Lillian Gish and Richard Barthelmess.

"Way Down East" represents the most careful attention to detail with some admirable landscapes and with scenes that show the countryside at all seasons of the year. Little touches such as are distinctively Griffith have poetic value and there is a most liberal proportion of fun, sometimes of a boisterous sort, but always in the spirit of the tale. The barn dance with Creighton Hale as a bewildered dancing professor is one of the big fun hits of the piece.

FORMER MABEL MAN KILLED IN WOODS: MISTAKEN FOR DEER

MABEL, Minn.—The tragic death of Leslie Gorham, a former resident of this place, occurred near his present home at Warba, Minn., when he was shot and instantly killed by a hunter who supposed he was firing at a deer. Gorham and a companion had been out deer hunting and had killed two but owing to the darkness which made travel difficult, had awaited till the next morning to bring their kill home. They had picked up the carcasses and started off when another hunter, named Keyser, seeing the bushes moving and making out the head of a deer through the brush, fired two shots at Gorham and the deer he carried. Gorham fell dead and Keyser believing he had killed one deer and that the second was getting away, when Gorham's companion began running out of danger, fired a third time and struck the companion in the arm and side. Despite his wounds, this second man was able to get up and go for assistance. When Keyser realized that he had killed a man, he went immediately to Warba and gave himself into the hands of the law, saying he was guilty. The coroners' jury brought in a verdict of "accidental shooting," which makes it unlikely that original action will be brought against Keyser. The remains of Gorham were brought to Mabel for burial. He was a son of Wm. Gorham and left here six years ago to farm in Northern Minnesota. He leaves a wife and two children. He was twenty-three years old.

DROPS DEAD AS HE AWAITS GUESTS AT GOLDEN WEDDING

CHICAGO, Ill.—Just prior to a feast prepared for 500 guests in celebration of his golden wedding anniversary, Hans C. Jorgensen dropped dead.

Jorgensen and his wife had completed their last inspection of the arrangements made by their six children, who had presented the couple with a framed photograph of the house in which they were married.

Jorgensen looked at the picture and pointed his finger at a window of the house.

"Mother," he said, "right in that very room fifty years ago"— But the "Unbidden guest" broke the sentence and he tottered and fell.

BLAINE BACKS DRIVE OF SALVATION ARMY

Governor Accepts Honorary Chairmanship of Committee

MADISON, Wis.—Governor Blaine Thursday accepted the honorary state chairmanship of the Salvation army for its appeal for support to be made from October 24 to 31, in a letter to Brigadier E. Y. White, commander of the Wisconsin forces of the Salvation army.

"The admirable service of the Salvation army during the war won the praise of all our soldiers," the governor says. "In view of the widespread unemployment there will be much suffering and want in our country during the winter.

"The public, knowing the purpose of your organization, ought to be generous in subscribing to your cause. I shall be very glad to serve as you suggested."

There is a necessity that all men should love their country; he that professes the contrary may be delighted with his words, but his heart is still there.—Ben Jonson.

A RUSSIAN CONTRAST--MOSCOW AND THE "DEATH BELT!"

MONEY--ENOUGH MONEY—will now buy almost anything in Moscow, seat of the bolshevik government, while throughout the country millions are starving. Equality? The contrasts of Russia today are graphically shown by these pictures which have just reached America. Above, the start of a trotting race on the Moscow track, and below—

THE DISTINGUISHED CROWD in the grandstand, watching the race—men high in the government. In the white clothes with panama hat is General Broussiloff, former commander-in-chief of the czar's armies, now general of remounts in the Red army. Contrast these with the—

LANGDON ELECTED TO SCOTTISH RITE OFFICE AT MEETING

Thomas J. Connor, Chippewa Falls, was elected grand commander of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Wisconsin, at the business session in Scottish Rite cathedral Wednesday morning.

Ed. F. Rowell, Kenosha, was chosen deputy grand commander; John E. Langdon, La Crosse, grand generalissimo; Milton M. Jones, Racine, grand captain general.

Minor revisions in the constitution and various reports occupied the session. The meeting was to close Wednesday afternoon with further business sessions.

Slight Change in Text

The Pullman being very crowded, little Elsie had to sleep in an upper berth. It was a wonderful adventure and it filled her with great glee. Her mother did not succeed in getting her quiet until it was time to say her prayers, but she was a well brought up little girl and knew that prayers must always be said earnestly. She knelt in her upper berth and began in a serious little voice: "Now I lay me up to sleep—."

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

ADDRESS BY BENTLEY OPENS SESSIONS OF BADGER CITY LEAGUE

La Crosse Mayor Denounces Legislative Interference in City Management

JANESVILLE, Wis.—Denouncing the interference of the legislature in the management of cities, and pleading that the city be permitted to make its regulations, Mayor A. A. Bentley, La Crosse, president of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, opened the convention here. He said that the farmer legislature was incompetent to make laws to guide and direct the city.

Ford McGregor, Madison, professor in the Wisconsin university and secretary of the league, reported on the work of the legislative committee. One hundred and seventy-three bills were introduced and of these 108 were killed and sixty-five passed by the legislature. Six were later vetoed by the governor. Headed by Mayor Paul Mlodzik, of Cudahy, a committee of ten was named by the convention to formulate a legislative program and ways for taking care of legislation during the next legislature session.

A banquet was given by the city of Janesville to the visitors and delegates Wednesday night. Sessions opened Thursday morning for the discussion of many topics of municipal government. In the afternoon the delegates went by automobile to Edgerton, where a dinner was served by the city in the evening.

Friday morning will come election of officers and selection of a place for the next convention. Merrill is a candidate for the convention and Madison sent a delegation asking that the convention for 1923 be sent to the capital city.

"THE OLD NEST" GRIPS MOST HARDENED CRITICS

First Showing to Picture Men Touched Their Emotions

People who write or produce motion pictures usually keep their emotions well in check. They are so busy watching technical effects that they do not have time to let their emotions run riot. A notable exception to this was made recently, however, when "The Odd Nest," which comes to the Rivoli theater Sunday was shown to the Goldwyn sales organization that had gathered at the Culver City studios.

When the sales managers emerged from the projection room nearly all of them had tears in their eyes. Soon they were seen making their way towards the studio telegraph office. It was learned later that nearly every one of them after seeing this picture of mother-love had telegraphed to his mother: "The Old Nest" was written by Rupert Hughes and directed by Reginald Barker. At the conclusion of the picture this sub-title is thrown on the screen: "If this picture should persuade you either to remember your mother piously, if she is dead; or, if she lives, to send her a long love-letter or even a telegram saying: 'I am well. I think of you and love you,' or, above all, to go home and see her, then this picture would give more real joy than any other picture ever made."

WASHINGTON.—The house passed a bill prohibiting transmission of betting odds through the mails or publication in newspaper of betting odds on sports.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

MISS LEITCH IS BEATEN AGAIN IN GOLF AT PHILLY

Doffs Crown to Miss Glenna Collett in Woman's Golf Tournament

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Miss Cecil Leitch, the French, British and Canadian champion all in one, again fell before the gameness and grit of an American woman when she doffed her three-star crown to Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, in the women's invitation golf tournament at the Huntingdon Valley Country club Wednesday.

Beaten by one up, Miss Leitch lost her second match out of three since her arrival in this country. In the present tourney she was blotted out in the first round.

Miss Collett played wonderful golf all the way. She trailed most of the distance despite her remarkable driving, until she took the lead at the seventeenth.

Miss Collett a Top Game

The British woman started in typical Leitch style, with a par four on the first hole. Miss Collett was over on her second, and missed a twelve foot putt for a 6. This made it 1 down, but the match was squared on the second, when the Providence entry came through with a four, while Miss Leitch drove into a trap, just managed to lift out her second, went short on her third, put her fourth in the creek and picked up. This was the first sign that the Briton was not up to her usual form.

Miss Collett had a wonderful drive from the third tee and outdistanced her opponent by thirty yards. The invader, however, had a remarkable brassie on the edge of the creek. The Rhode Island woman made a great mashie shot and halved the hole in 5.

Miss Collett Great Driver

One of the longest drives ever made by a woman was shot off Miss Collett's club on the fourth and was only thirty yards short of the creek, outdriving Miss Leitch by about the same distance.

Miss Leitch presented the sixth to her rival and allowed the match to be squared again. She was stymied and instead of awarding the hole tried to run around her opponent's ball and lost, 5 to 4.

The eighth was halved in threes, but Miss Collett evened the tilt once more on the ninth. The Providence golfer took the lead for the first time on the tenth.

POST SEASON SERIES OF LOUISVILLE AND BALTIMORE RESUMED

BALTIMORE, Md.—The post season series between Baltimore, winner of the International league championship and Louisville, which won the pennant in the American Association will be continued here this afternoon. The first four games were played in Louisville with the teams getting an even break and the contests will be continued until one club has put five victories to its credit.

HOLSTEIN DAY IS OBSERVED THURSDAY AT U. S. DAIRY SHOW

HAMLINE, Minn.—Thursday was Holstein day at the National Dairy show and that breed of dairy cattle occupied the center of attraction.

Other events associated with the show Thursday include meetings of the International Milk Dealers, Northwest Farmers, and the Holstein-Friesian association in St. Paul.

MINNESOTA CITY TO USE CORN AS FUEL IN ITS POWER PLANT

WINDOM, Minn.—With corn at 25 cents a bushel the city of Windom will use it for fuel at the municipal power plant, it was declared Thursday. Many farmers have announced an intention to burn corn instead of coal this winter.

SPORT BRIEFS

NEW YORK.—A new record for world's series receipts was made with a gate of $804,781.

NEW YORK.—Ned Gourdin, Harvard colored athlete and world's champion running broad jumper won the national pentathlon championship of the American Athletic union.

The Conference Ended

"I'm waiting for my wife," said the bold, bad man to an attractive young woman he met in a department store.

"Yes?"

"Are you shopping?"

"No."

"Have you any particular place to go just now?"

"No."

"Wouldn't we—er—become better acquainted?"

"We could, but I don't think it will be necessary if you behave yourself. I'm the store detective."

A Business Woman

He had paid $30 for his Panama hat, but was ashamed to admit it and told his wife it cost $5.

"Oh, John," she said a few days afterward, as she greeted him on his arrival home, "I made such a splendid bargain today. There was an old clothes man here, and when he saw your new Panama he was foolish enough to offer five dollars for it. There are some things I need advertised in the paper and I want that two dollars all for myself."—New York Sun.

The Insult

"Did you scribble that on the fence, Tommy?"

"Me?" said Tommy contemptuously; "do you think I'd use chalk on a fence when I've got a knife?"

GIANTS MUST BREAK HABIT OF BEING WHIPPED BY HOYT TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP TODAY

NEW YORK.—Clear, chilly weather prevailed this morning and indications were that the eighth game of the world's series would be played under ideal football conditions.

The world series may end Thursday in a victory for the New York Giants. But they will have to break themselves of the habit of getting whipped by Waite Hoyt, the amazing young man who earns his living pitching for the Yankees. Twice already he has outwitted the McGraw men, permitting them no runs the first time and only one score last Monday.

Art Nehf, left-handed but trustworthy, probably will pitch for the Giants. He was their flinger on both other days when Hoyt worked and he pitched well, his main trouble being the failure of his colleagues to render substantial encouragement with their bats.

The Giants moved to within one game of baseball's highest honors Wednesday afternoon when Shuffling Phil Douglas obtained a two to one verdict over Carl Mays, who pitched like a ten-pin player, but gets there just the same.

The Yankees have won three. It was the first game since the vendetti began with the Polo grounds last week that the Giants pounced ahead of the Huggins pack. It was the fourth triumph for the National leaguers in the last five games.

Yanks in Hole

If the Giants win Thursday the championship is theirs, while the Yankees to wear the crown must go forward this afternoon and repeat in the game that would follow.

For the present, they can hitch their wagon to Waite Hoyt. But one star cannot pull a team around every day, at least not in baseball, and the Yankee supply is limited compared to McGraw's constellation. Mays is the only other boy man who has shown a capacity to befuddle the Giant batsmen. McGraw has Slim Sallee, Pat Shea and Jess Barnes to pit against the Yankees in a ninth game.

The Yankees are still bereft of Babe Ruth. His sturdy sore spots compel him to refrain from the combat. And it may be they will have to get along without McNally, third baseman. His shoulder was hurt Wednesday in sliding into second base and he had to retire. Frank Baker replaced him and got two hits.

People who believe in the existence of fate and the finger of destiny which compose the battery of the gods, came right out and said the Giants were sure to win the championship. They declared that the "break" looked for in every sporting test to point to the ultimate winner came Wednesday and indicated that the goose of the Yankees was in the ice-box and soon would be cooked.

Fate Picks Seventh

Fate picked the seventh inning to do the Yankees a mean trick. There is a cult of fans and writers which sternly holds the seventh to be the inning when such things almost always transpire, and that usually they redound to the greater glory of the home team. The Giants were the home team yesterday. They wore white uniforms while the Yankees made believe they were out in the country and had on their darker working clothes.

The aforementioned cult joined the "I told you so" club last night. They had seen Mays and Douglas battling along evenly into the seventh when with two gone Rawlings got to first on a hard roller that Ward muffed.

"Well, there's the break," one heard folks remarking while Ward was thinking unkind things of his luck. And sure enough the break had come. Before one could say Jack Robinson more than half a dozen times Rawlings crossed the plate with the run that won the game. He had been sent around the bases by Snyder's two-base hit into center field that Miller and Fewster had a hard time picking out of the grass.

Staley Eleven Team of Stars Plays Sunday

George Halas, former University of Illinois athlete, who is captain of the Staley professional football team which will meet Rochester at the Cubs park on Sunday, yesterday announced the galaxy of stars who will start the game.

Chick Harley, formerly of Ohio State, and Dutch Sternaman, who starred at Illinois, will be the half backs. Ruffino, former Purdue full back, will play in his old position, with Pete Stinchcomb, star of last year's Ohio team, at quarter back. Halas will play one end with Chamberlain, formerly of Nebraska, on the other wing.

Scott of Wisconsin, All-American tackle last year, will be seen in his old position, while the veteran Hughie Blacklock, who won fame at Michigan Agricultural college and Great Lakes, will be in the other tackle position. Tarzan Taylor, guard on last year's Ohio State eleven, and Smith, who played at Illinois, will be the guards with Trafton, formerly of Notre Dame at center.

The Staleys will arrive in Chicago on Saturday and will remain in the city for the remainder of the season. They will practice daily at the Cub park and Sunday's game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

GOPHER PLAYERS ON RECORD AS AGAINST NORTHWESTERN SPLIT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—The Minnesota football players do not want to sever athletic relations with Northwestern university, as asked by a petition which was circulated among the students yesterday. The petition charged that the Purple players used rough tactics in the game last Saturday which resulted in the crippling of Arnold Oss, star half back. The Gophers went on record today, before departing for Columbus for the game Saturday with Ohio State, as opposed to the petition asking such action of the Athletic board.

Auto Truck Hangs Owner With Necktie

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—An unusual accident, which occurred while Frank Port, owner of a truck and dray line at Grafton, was making repairs on one of his trucks late on Tuesday, caused Port's death by strangulation, according to a report made Wednesday morning by George Horn, coroner of Ozaukee county.

Port was about to take one of his trucks out of the garage when he became aware of trouble in the drive shaft. Crawling beneath the truck, with the engine and drive shaft working, the rear wheels jacked up, Port began investigating the trouble when his tie was caught by the shaft.

The spinning shaft caught the tie and drew it tight about Port's neck, strangling him before assistance arrived.

Port is a married man and lives at Grafton.

Simply Scandalous

Hubby—Say, I just saw Mac and his bride buzz by in their new roadster.

Wife—What did she look like?

Hubby—Looks pretty fast. Has a long, slim body, two blue streamers flying from her hood, her muffler was wide open, and she was smoking.

Wife—My heavens; His bride?

Hubby—No. The roadster.

DEFEAT WISCONSIN SLOGAN DINNED AT NORTHWESTERN "U"

Coach McDevitt Preparing for Clash With Badgers Next Saturday

EVANSTON—"Defeat Wisconsin" was the slogan dinned into the ears of the Northwestern gridiron squad by Coach Elmer McDevitt Tuesday while putting the varsity through a two hours' scrimmage with the freshmen.

Paterson, fullback, was the individual star against the freshmen, making several long gains. Grausnick also showed up well at half and Blumenthal, quarter, displayed good headwork.

Shearon, end, was injured during the scrimmage and compelled to leave the field. It is doubtful whether he will appear against the badgers. His place will be taken by Saunders.

Northwestern completed only one forward pass out of seven trials in the Minnesota game and Palmer and McElwaine were taken aside by Coach McDevitt and given instruction in that department.

Graham Penfield, who because of injuries was able to play only a portion of the game last Saturday, appeared on the field and took his place at tackle. It is probable that he will be able to play during the entire game against Wisconsin.

Six candidates from the dental school, all with previous football experience, appeared to try for places on the varsity. Three of the new men are front line candidates and weigh around 185 to 200 pounds.

RUTH WATCHES HIS UNDERSTUDY SLAM PILL FOR A HOMER

NEW YORK.—Although the infection of his left elbow compelled Babe Ruth to drop out of the Yankees' lineup in Tuesday's game which the Yanks lost to the Giants 8 to 5, the Babe was permitted by his doctors to sit in a box at the rim of the playing field, near the Yanks' bench, and watch young Chick Fewster, his understudy, slap a home run into the leftfield stand. Ruth is understood to be out for the remainder of the series.

Ruth congratulated Fewster on his drive and on his work in the field where he seemed to cover ground faster than the Babe could have.

The Bam said this was the first time he had seen a world series game except in uniform as a member of a contending club.

Few Insects Harmful to Man

Relatively speaking, very few species of insects are harmful in any way to man and his works. The injurious species amount to less than one per cent of the whole. On the other hand a great many species are beneficial to mankind. Pollination of crops, like clover, would be impossible without insect visitations, and the same is true of many garden flowers and important fruits.

Badger Social Work Conference and Move to Disarm Approved at Meeting

OSHKOSH, Wis.—The Wisconsin conference for social work was given unanimous vote of support by the Wisconsin state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution Tuesday afternoon. President Harding was assured of the hearty approval of the Wisconsin D. A. R., in his move for international disarmament. In the same resolution the request was made that the sessions of the international tribunal be open. The Service Star Legion was accorded greetings and assured the moral support of the D. A. R. in the excellent work being done for the soldiers of the world war.

The Wisconsin chapter will furnish a room in the new administration building at Washington, D. C. according to plans adopted by the thirtieth continental congress of the D. A. R. Such action was taken at the state convention here in conformity with reports made by the committee on resolutions.

Vice regent, Mrs. Isaac Witter, Wisconsin Rapids.

Recording secretary, Mrs. Charles D. Weeks, Milwaukee.

Corresponding secretary, Mrs. John M. Whitehead, Janesville.

An English clergyman, Father Black, spent a great deal of his time visiting prisons and trying to reform the inmates. Atonement?

When William Butler Yeats was a boy his folks moved from Dublin to Bedford Park, as he relates in The Dial. Yeats says, incidentally, that he was not much of a churchgoer, but that he must have gone a few times because he remembers, very clearly, a wooden sign, which hung in the church porch: "The congregation are requested to kneel during prayers; the kneelers are afterwards to be hung on pegs provided for that purpose."

Buy from your grocer this week six packages Jiffy-Jell. Send us the certificate below and we will send you three gifts to surprise and delight you.

First, we will send the Initial Mold Set shown above. Six individual dessert molds in aluminum, each with your initial embossed so it shows on the dessert.

This is the latest dessert fad. This set where sold would cost you 75 cents.

We will send in addition two other valuable gifts. We will not announce them, for we want to surprise you. All these three gifts will come to you if you send us the signed certificate this week.

Real Fruit in Bottles

Remember that Jiffy-Jell is the only dessert with the real fruit flavors in bottles.

We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it. A bottle of this real fruit essence goes in every package.

In The MOVIES

AT THE THEATERS TODAY.

La Crosse—D. W. Griffith's "Way Down East."

Rivoli—Wallace Reid in "The Love Special"; Gaiety comedy, "Standing Pat."

Majestic—Two acts of vaudeville; Elaine Hammerstein in "Remorseless Love"; Pollard comedy, "The Bike Bug."

Riviera—Metro's production, "The Four Horsemen"; special music setting by Riviera orchestra, Chester Wright, director.

Casino—Tom Mix in "Hands Off"; Fox News.

Strand—Princess Comedy company in "Bibbs and Bibbs"; Hobart Bosworth in "His Own Law"; Jimmy Aubrey in his comedy, "The Tourist."

WALLIE REID—RIVOLI

There are no sex problems, no matrimonial mix-ups, nor life lessons to be learned from Wallace Reid's latest picture, "The Love Special," which is shown at the Rivoli theater the rest of this week. It is a fine, red-blooded story with lots of mountain railroad atmosphere, a charming romance, and a few well-staged thrills to lend spice to the production. Mr. Reid is well supported by Agnes Ayres, and several other prominent players, including Theodore Roberts, Lloyd Wallback, Sylvia Ashton, Alexander Gaden, Clarence Burton, Ernest Butterworth and others.

The story revolves around Jim Glover, a construction engineer on a mountain railroad division, who gets "in dutch" with the daughter of the president of the road on first meeting her, and then falls in love with her and wins her despite the schemes of Harrison, a director of the road, who also loves the girl. Eugene B. Lewis wrote the scenario and the picture was directed by Frank Urson, former assistant to Cecil B. de Mille who has now become a full-fledged director.

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN—MAJESTIC

The admirers of Elaine Hammerstein—and they are many in this community—will find her at the Majestic for three days, where she is presenting "Remorseless Love." Miss Hammerstein does not come this time in ball dresses and evening gowns, but swings across the screen as a self-reliant and vigorous girl of the mountains, who teaches school, shapes the morals of the rising generations and rebels against the outrageous dictates of feudal hatreds and retaliations.

It is this rebellion against the feud custom that leads the story and its heroine into a cumulation of incidents that end in one of the cleverest "surprise finishes" the screen has ever carried. There is absolutely no way to suspect who committed the crime that lands the hero in the clutches of the law. The outcome hinges on the climaxing events in a court room where Niles Welch finds his life at stake with the girl he loves about to make disclosures that cannot help but blast her reputation.

"FOUR HORSEMEN"—RIVIERA

That Metro's presentation of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," the Rex Ingram production adapted for the screen by June Mathis rivals the greatest theatrical offerings of the legitimate stage, was the opinion of John Galvin, Mayor of Cincinnati, after twice viewing the picture in New York. This screen masterpiece is now showing at the Riviera Theatre.

"It is the greatest picture I have ever seen," declared Mr. Galvin. "Its dramatic power is something wonderful and it affected me just as much as though I were witnessing a spoken performance. I [illegible] and I am not ashamed to say that parts of that picture brought a lump to my throat and tears to my eyes.

"Pictures like 'The Four Horsemen' are the greatest kind of advertisement to show that the movies are capable of just as wonderful dramatic effects as the speaking stage. It shows what tremendous things the big companies of the motion picture industry are doing to advance the standard of pictures."

TOM MIX—CASINO

After a week of strenuous life at the Cooper Theaters, Tom Mix, his trusty gun and lariat will end their stay in "Hands Off" tonight and the William Fox production will move on. Every day at the Casino theater has seen record crowds in attendance since the first showing of the picture. The stamp of popular approval has been placed on Mix's new picture and tonight will be the last chance to view one of the breeziest western dramas seen here in some time.

TRIPLE FEATURE BILL—STRAND

Have you a law of your own? Have you an individual moral code? What would you do if your best friend married the woman you loved. This is the powerful situation that forms the climax of "His Own Law," starring that wonderful actor, Hobart Bosworth, at the Strand today. On the same bill are the Princess comedy company presenting "Bibbs and Bibbs" and Jimmy Aubrey in a screen comedy, "The Tourist."

Two Could Play That Game

A hundred years ago a wealthy bachelor, named Paige, who lived near Albion, R. I., gave a party; one of the young ladies left a glove. Mr. Paige returned it with the following note: "If from your glove you take the letter G, that glove is love and that I have for thee." The young lady replied: "If from your name you take the letter P, that Paige, is age and that won't do for me." The story is vouched for by a friend of the Outlook; whose grandmother had it at first hand.—The Outlook.

STOCK MARKET ACTIVE

Stocks Are Heavy With Foreign Situation Favoring the Shorts

NEW YORK—Business broadened on the stock exchange Thursday but the movement was entirely at the expense of quoted values. The foreign situation as indicated by the weakness of leading exchanges and a continuance of the six per cent call money rate encouraged the shorts to enlarge their commitments. Mexican Petroleum forefited three points and the independent steels, as well as tobaccos, coalers and leathers lost 1 to 3½ points.

Heaviness among junior rails became more marked, Southern Railway preferred and Seaboard Air Line common and preferred being under especial pressure. Liberty bonds were steady but showed little of their recent activity.

Resumption of trading in the stock market after the holiday showed no material alterations from recent irregular tendencies. Domestic oils of the several speculative varieties continued to feature the constructive side at fractional gains but Mexican and European oils were heavy, Royal Dutch losing 1½ points. Firmness was shown by minor rails and rails, but food specialties, notably American Sugar and South Porto Rico Sugar showed further weakness. Unsettlement in the foreign exchange market was precipitated by the extreme weakness of German marks which fell to a new low record.

WHEAT MARKET BREAKS

Material Declines Recorded Upon Resumption of Trading Today

CHICAGO, Ill.—Material declines took place in the wheat market Thursday largely as a consequence of price breaks Wednesday in the northwest when the Chicago exchange was closed. A new low price record for German marks also was generally regarded as a handicap on grain values. Wheat opened 1¾c to 2¼c lower, with December at $1.13 to ½ and May $1.17½ to $1.18 scored a moderate rally and then sagged a little.

Prices closed steady at 2 to 3c lower at $1.12½ to ¾ December and $1.17 to ¼ May.

Corn and oats weakened with wheat. Corn after starting ⅜ to 2c lower with December 47⅞ to 48c underwent a slight additional sag.

The market closed heavy 1⅞ to 2⅜c net lower with December 46⅝ to 46⅝c.

Initial prices for oats were ⅜c to ⅝c down, December 34¼ to ⅝c and there were other losses later.

With hig values on the down grade provisions lacked support.

With a straw doll, which she can make herself, your little daughter can have lots of fun. Take some twenty or thirty pieces of straw, about 8 inches long. Bind them together an inch and a half from one end. Bind them again two inches below that. Divide the straw below the last part tied into two sections and tie them near the ends. Thus legs are formed. Cut a few straws loose on each side and bind them near the ends for arms. Wind the top for a head. Then have lots of crepe papers for fancy colored frocks!

WOODWORK

Add a little common soda to the water with which you wash the sink board and the top of your kitchen table. It will keep the wood clean and light.

Do Today's Job Today

The habit of postponing is wholesale delusion. It is founded on false hope. The victim thinks he will have time to do tomorrow what should be done today. That more convenient time is seldom ever comes. Shakespeare emphasizes the idea when he says: "You can't turn the wheel with the water that is past." Another writer has said: "Procrastination is the thief of time." It's mere salve to conscience, and tomorrow with its own quota of jobs has no time nor room for what should have been done yesterday.—Grit.

Some of the Important Reasons Why Your Will Should Be Carefully Prepared

Losses to estates have been caused by:

—Wills poorly planned, providing neither for future contingencies, nor present conditions.

—"Home-made" wills which could have two interpretations—inviting litigation.

—Death-bed wills, hastily drawn—broken by heirs on claims of irresponsibility.

—Wills recommending an individual executor who mismanaged, or died, leaving the court to appoint another.

This institution's Trust Officer will go into complete detail with you concerning wills and their making. We invariably recommend that your attorney make the final draft of your will. Consult us at length on this important matter.

KLAN CHIEF DENIES CHARGE OF OUTLAWRY MADE AGAINST ORDER

Would Disband the Klan if One-thousandth Part of Charges Were True

MEMBERS DROPPED WHEN THEY TAKE THE LAW INTO OWN HANDS

Klan at Present Investigating Own Officers

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Sweeping denial of charges that the Ku Klux Klan contained within its ranks a lawless band of hooded hoodlums was made before a house committee on Wednesday by William J. Simmons, Atlanta, its founder and imperial wizard.

Turning squarely upon members who had listened intently for nearly two hours to a dramatic defense of the organization, Mr. Simmons declared that "standing here in the presence of God," he wanted the world to know that if one-thousandth part of the charges were true he would forthwith call together the grand corcilium of the Klan for the purpose of disbanding it forever.

Klan Welcomed Inquiry

Called after a number of negro witnesses from Boston and Chicago had urged a congressional inquiry of the Klan, the imperial wizard, first asking to be sworn, told the committee the Klan welcomed the investigation, but protested against attacks in some of the pending house resolutions.

He was permitted to read his statement without interruption, although on Thursday he will be questioned, especially with reference to published reports of various acts of vandalism charged to the klan.

"There is no room in our organization for those who take the law into their own hands," he declared, banging the table. "We have been charged with everything from the wave of high prices to the sweeping march of the boll weevil. It has been charged that our primary aim was intimidation of the negro, but it might surprise this committee to know that the growth of the Ku Klux Klan has been greater in the north and east than in the south."

Investigating Own Officers

The klan, the witness testified, is conducting an investigation of its own into charges against Edward Young Clarke, imperial kleugle, and head of the propagating bureau, and Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, his assistant, and will issue an official statement when it comes into possession of all the facts.

Discussing charges of violence on the part of alleged klansmen, Mr. Simmons declared that when a member took the law into his own hands he automatically was dropped from the organization.

"And I have never yet failed," he added, "to turn over to the local authorities, if I had it, any evidence needed to bring about a conviction. I have been doing everything in that direction and no man living can say that I, personally or as head of the klan, ever attempted to shield a criminal. A member's oath requires him to uphold and respect the law.

The charge that the Klan sought to obtain officers of the law as members was characterized by the imperial wizard "as a tremendous indictment against the honor of American citizenship." Denying that the Klan invited to riot, he declared no riot had occurred in any city where the Klan had representation.

Protestant and Non-Political

"The Ku Klux Klan is purely a Protestant and non-political organization," he said. "It does not seek political power. It has offered big rewards for capture of law breakers posing as klansmen, and its records show where it has provided substantial aid for those needing it. In the six years I have been with the order I have received only $12,000, and my Atlanta home was the gift of members, most of whom subscribed less than a dollar."

"The charge is made that we are organized to preach and teach religious intolerance and especially that we are anti-Roman Catholic, anti-Jew and anti-negro," Mr. Simmons continued. "The works of the Klan prove this absolutely untrue. Many alleged outrages have been attributed to the Klan, but none of these were against Roman Catholics, Jews and negroes and none were committed by the klan."

Referring to attacks on the klan by certain newspapers, Mr. Simmons, turning toward C. Anderson Wright, a former klansman, who wrote a series of articles about the organization, said:

"Just as Judas betrayed Christ for thirty pieces of silver, so there was found C. Anderson Wright, a former klansman, who for money betrayed his oath. My information is that this man was paid $5,000 cash and $100 a week as long as he worked on the stories."

DETROIT BARS PUBLIC MEETINGS OF K. K. K.

DETROIT, Mich.—A resolution prohibiting public meetings of members of the Ku Klux Klan was adopted by the city council. The action was requested by the ministerial interdenominational union, an organization of negro ministers.
